Sun City Texas Commissions Fry/Straka to Enhance Golf Courses

Georgetown, Texas (December 8, 2015) – Sun City Texas, a Del Webb/Pulte property, recently began plans to enhance both its Legacy Hills and White Wing golf courses. Fry/Straka Global Golf Course Design has been commissioned by the Sun City Texas Community Association to lead the course enhancement and renovation project. Among other things, the anticipated project will focus on improving playability and pace of play, drainage, tolerance to increased cart and pedestrian traffic, tree removal, and other maintenance related issues.

“We are thrilled to work with Fry/Straka on this project,” said Ron Delaney, Director of Golf Operations at Sun City Texas. “Our courses offer first-class golfing for both resident members and the public. Our goal with this project is to ensure that the courses maintain the level of excellence and playability our residents expect for years to come, while offering a level of interest and challenge that continues to attract outside play. We look forward to Jason of Fry/Straka putting his touch on the courses and seeing them transform over the next year.”

A similar sentiment was echoed by Jason Straka who commented, “Fry/Straka is honored to be chosen to assist Sun City Texas with its golf course improvement project. We are looking forward to ensuring the residents of Sun City Texas and the surrounding region continue to have an exceptional golf experience on the White Wing and Legacy Hills golf courses for a long time to come.”

Construction is anticipated to begin in 2016.

About Sun City Texas

Sun City Texas is a master-planned, active-adult community located in scenic Georgetown, Texas, just north of the capital city of Austin. Home to more than 13,000 residents, the community boasts three golf courses, two fitness centers, five swimming pools, tennis, bocce, fishing ponds, a woodworking shop, an arts and crafts center and more than 50 clubs catering to almost any activity or interest. Golf Advisor recently ranked the community as one of the top ten retirement destinations for golfers. Sun City has three beautiful golf courses: Legacy Hills, White Wing, and Cowen Creek. Each of the courses blends with the natural landscape of the Texas Hill Country, while still offering their own unique design and character. The unique beauty of the courses ensures an enjoyable golf experience for golfers of every level.
